the patient takes the rest.

One indication that we're getting back to normalcy is finding the majority of men "hard up" again who spent money like princes for a few years.

There are two kinds of men—those who think a dinner is a failure if they are not called upon to speak, and those who think it is a failure if they are.

The reason old bachelors are harder to capture than widows is because most bachelors can mend their own clothes and even cook, in a pinch.

Prohibition officer H. J. Lynch came in town Saturday with a 180 gallon still, the largest ever captured in this immediate section. The still was found in the Buck Branch section, about 3 miles north of Gainesboro. There were no indications that the still had been in operation recently. It was brought to town and left at the garage.

J. V. Pistole Seriously Cut.

J. V. Pistole, one of the leading farmers of 2nd district of this county, is suffering a painful knife wound on his arm, as a result of a difficulty with Jake Keithly, which occurred last Saturday. It is stated that Keithly had rented some land from Pisttole and the two had met to discuss matters pertaining to the rents, etc., when Keithly cursed Pistole and hit him on the head with a whipstock, and after this, Keithly's son, John, came up and slashed Pistole on the arm with a knife, inflicting an ugly wound on the front part of the arm near the wrist. Dr. Reeves, who was called to dress the wound, stated that although the wound was a dangerous one, it was healing nicely.

Neither of the Keithlys have been arrested, and are reported as having left the county.

Mr. Pistole is an excellent citizen and has scores of friends in Gainesboro who are glad to learn that his wound is healing so rapidly.

Cloud Haile (col.) age about 65, died at his home here Saturday afternoon after an illness of several weeks. "Uncle Cloudy" as he was familiarly known, had been living in Gainesboro for the past 20 years, and was a quiet, peaceable old negro. He is survived by his wife and several grown children. Interment in the Brooks cemetery near town.

T. R. Wilson Visits Home.

T. R. Wilson, of Honey Grove, Texas, after a week's visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Wilson of Rough Point, returned home Tuesday. While in Gainesboro, he stopped at the Sentinel office and renewed his subscription for another year. He has a habit of making a visit back home every two years.

Mr. Wilson has two sons, 19 and 21 years of age, who are rapidly becoming famous as football players, especially the elder one. A write-up, in regard to these two boys, which recently appeared in the Honey Grove papers follows:

Much interest was manifested here in the A. & M.-Center football game at Dallas Monday afternoon, a large number attending from here, and others watching the scoreboard on the west side of the square where the returns were received. The chief interest centered around Fred Wilson, a Honey Grove boy, who played in the game and who proved to be the star of the of the battle. Fred is captain-elect of the team for next year and in the game Monday distinguished himself by making the safety and touch-down for his college. He futher distinguished himself by making the safety and one touchdown for his college. He futher distinguished himself by outplaying his opponent Robert of Center, the acknowledged All-American end for all time. The touchdown which Fred made was the result of a forward pass, and Robert, as well as the entire Center team could not stop him. He is said to have outplayed the much-ly touted end in every part of the game, and his many friends congratulated him upon his wonderful playing. The score was A. & M. 22; Center 14. A. & M., by defeating the miracle team from Kentucky, can consider themselves the greatest team of the age.

Dr. Ettinger, the foot ball authority of the Interscholastic League, was asked to name an all star team from the Texas high schools and did so. Wilson, of Honey Grove, was the only one considered when Dr. Ettinger came to the point of naming a quarterback. The doctor had not seen Wilson on the field, but Wilson's work had won so many encomiums, and his record was so fine that he was picked "sight unseen," as the boys used to say when they swapped knives. In this selection all the foot ball authorities of the state concur for no one doubts that Fay is easily the greatest quarterback in the Interscholastic League.

Revenue officer H. J. Lynch came in town Sunday afternoon with four moonshiners he had captured near Gibbs X Roads.
He also destroyed two large stills at this place.

John Cooper Killed In Tick. Miss Draper Goes to Market

John Cooper, of Butler's Landing, was shot and instantly killed Sunday morning about ten o'clock, in the vicinity of Carmack Town, in the extreme north-eastern part of this county, by Sam Beechboard. The particulars have not been learned.
Beechboard was arrested and lodged in jail here Monday morning, and will be given preliminary hearing Friday.

W. F. Hawkins, a deputy sheriff of this county, has also been arrested as an accomplice to the killing.

Cooper is a son of Thomas Cooper, and has the name of being a good citizen. He was about 25 years old and leaves a wife and several children.

Miss Lella Draper will leave Saturday for Nashville and Louisville, where she will spend three weeks acquainting herself with the latest styles in millinery. On her return to Gainesboro she will open a millinery shop of her own, in the department store of Draper & Draper Co.

Miss Draper has been associated with this line for a number of year and thoroughly understands the business. For the past four or five years Miss Draper has had charge of the millinery at Quarles & McCawley Co. which has recently changed hands. On this trip, she will buy a nice line of head-wear for spring, all of which, will be of the very latest styles.

Her opening announcement will appear, in due time, in the columns of the Sentinel.
